

About Forum for Turkic Studies

Forum for Turkic Studies was established in the autumn of 2013 and starts its activities in the spring of 2014. It is a forum for interdisciplinary cooperation between six faculties within the Disciplinary domain of of Humanities and Social Sciences.

Forum for Turkic Studies was established to coordinate and integrate research and education within the field of Turkic studies. Other Uppsala University fora of areal studies have shown that they contribute to a strengthened research connection in teaching.

According to the decision taken by the board of the Disciplinary domain, the task of the Forum for Turkic studies is to promote the creation of a centre of excellence at Uppsala University for research on Turkey and other Turkic-speaking areas (particularly Central Asia) in a broad interdisciplinary cooperation between scholars within the field.
